

A Presidential Poem for a Peaceful Transition of Power: Farewell Obama and Hello Trump

I think the transition of great power in America is a sign of our strength as a democracy. How will markets react? Who knows? But we should honor our Presidents both past and present. Some random thoughts as I rap in poems taking down unrighteous Jeroboams entitled “Presidential Poem” by Nelson Nga Nguyen, CFA, CPA:

- Goodbye President Obama
- You transitioned your great powers peacefully like the Dali Lama
- And we’ll miss you like our long-lost mama
- Though I tried to get another job as a public servant with the SEC under Obama
- They said no so I could not buy dinner for my papa and my mama
- You showed much wisdom and strength
- During your 8-year Presidential length
- You took down Osama
- You are Our Obama!
- The new Presidential race of late
- Had an unexpected turn of fate
- Though Clinton was showing in the polls to win
- American votes and Russian votes took a different spin
- Hilary, you were smoked like a Winston
- When all is settled you are still one of our first ladies-Lady Clinton
- They say the third time is the lucky charm
- Maybe considering running in the future and sound some alarms
- In Chicago, we long for three-peats
- So hold up your head First Lady Clinton and don’t miss a beat
- America took a gamble on President Trump
- That’s why they voted along with Russia to give you a bump
- President Trump you have won
- Now there’s a lot of work to be done
- Make us a great nation again
- Do it! Do it! Do it to the end!
- May you build us up like you did Trump Towers
- Show them who’s the boss and who has Super Powers
- Remember President Trump that you win some
- And lose some
- Like your great magnificent casinos you have the better odds
- Remember Mr. President that one day you’ll answer to God

- Col_1:16 teaches us that “For by Him all things were created, both in the heavens and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things have been created by Him and for Him.”
- Now it’s time to sink or swim
- Take down unrighteous leaders who are Jeroboams
- May you heed my words and like my rap-like poems
- I’m betting on you, President Trump
- Give out some lumps
- If you have to
- Don’t let them push you around make them black and blue
- You’re in the White House now build bridges not walls
- Keep us united Mr. President and have a great ball
- I know you are a man who makes great deals
- Work hard to make America Great again and steal
- Some hearts and minds
- When you work late and hit the grind
- Good luck Mr. President good luck
- Help America because we’re still stuck
- Don’t let others discard
- You Mr. President because you always have a card
- Up your sleeve-your Trump card
- You have my calling card
- Now if you need help at the SEC
- Call or email, please think of me
- For now I’ll continue to write freelance
- You Mr. President can do your victory dance
- I believe in you, President Trump. You are our new leader
- Though I didn’t vote for you-I’ll be your cheerleader
- When you fail and you’re in dead meat where people think you’re the worst
- Be like a sausage-grind them up and become the valued “wurst”
- Good luck Mr. President good luck
- Teach Americans to do good business and make an honest buck
- Economists are not always economical
- And comics are not always comical
- Invest in America Mr. President invest
- You’re in charge now-let’s show them who’s “The Best!”
- Remember Mr. President the sick and the poor
- And someday you’ll leave loved and adored
- Stop us from our idol making
- Help us to learn to store up riches in heaven for the taking
- Repent! Call us to Repentance
- Repent! Repent, otherwise we’ll suffer His Sentence
- Unite us! Unite us, Mr. President! United We Stand
- Remember Him! Remember Him, Mr. President, your Creator-the Maker of Mans.
